

843-GS Series

Construction

The 843 series dampers are made of stainless steel metal parts and elastic rubber elements
The mounting is advisable in compression loading only

Applications

These isolators are suitable for foots of sensitive equipment and enabling a attenuation of vibrations (optical devices) as well as noise reduction (medical devices)

Codification

Particular achievements with specific load range can be proposed, for any request, consult our engineering departments

